Alternate Dwellings Building System

Alternate Dwellings

HOMES & BARNS

Design your new house from Barn to Homestead or anything in between.

Alternate Dwellings' Building System now provides a freedom of design never before seen in kit home construction. Allowing you to select from our collection of fully featured home designs or create a simpler design, built to your needs and your exact budget.

A unique concept to Australia, our Building System allows a design process from basic shell with the option to add the rooms and features you want, where you want them.

Whether you need something very basic with two windows and a door or a home to raise the family; a Building System Home puts the choice in your hands. To match your life and your needs. And you can also choose to build and finish the house yourself or get Alternate Dwellings to do the job for you. Now that kind of help is pretty hard to find from most of today's kit manufacturers.

Once again Alternate Dwellings goes the extra mile.

Slected from our most popular designs, each of our Building System design modules can expand to accommodate the floor space you require with a range of verandah and deck options to suit. You then decide how many rooms you want and where to put all the windows and doors.

With a design locked in, our factory in Morwell can then build your kit to your exact specs before everything is delivered to site for construction.

To find out more just drop into one of our displays or give us a call. Our experienced sales agents are happy to talk you through the process and assist with a free quote on a home tailored exactly to your needs.

Getting the home you want, couldn't be simpler.

The Alternate Dwellings Building System allows you to custom design your home from a basic shell and add the features and finish you want to match your needs and budget.

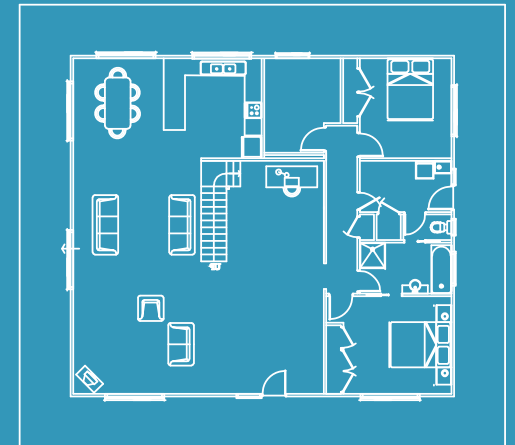

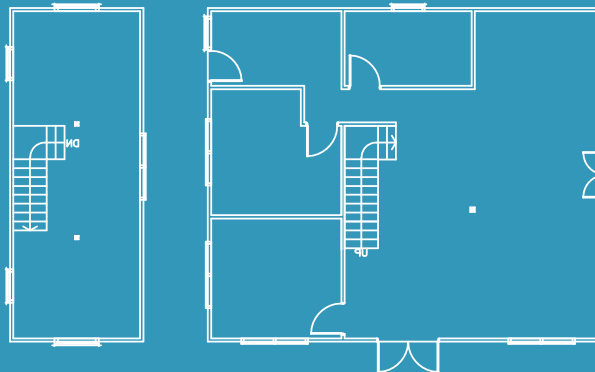

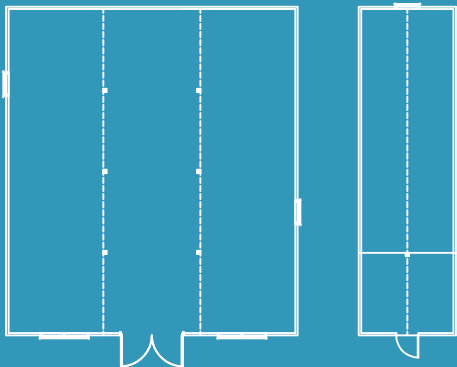

Take this basic Highlander shell; add termite treatment, a few windows and doors, drop in a floor and you have a basic dwelling. You then finish it to your own specifications by adding a kitchen, bathroom, laundry etc...

Or if you want something a little more livable now; we can add the walls, windows, stairs, bathroom, laundry and kitchen for you and you have a perfect weekend retreat. These are some of the minimum requirements for a certificate of occupancy.

But if it's a completed homestead to soak up the country life your after, then a selection from one of our existing house designs is definitely the way to go.

From basic weekender to expansive homestead, the Alternate Dwellings Building System allows you to design your home from the shell up, your way, to your budget.
